in the cellar : Late Sun Red is a blend of approximately 85% Cinsaut and 15% Cabernet Sauvignon. Cinsaut is extensively planted in dry land vineyards in the northern areas of the Paarl wine region, where it produces yields of less than 10 mt/ha. Both the Cinsaut and the Cabernet Sauvignon wines are allowed to ferment dry on the husks, and racked without SO₂. Malolactic fermentation is allowed to proceed naturally, after which the wine is racked again with a small addition of SO₂.
