Origin: Western Cape

Climate: Cold and wet winter with a dry spring which led to very concentrated fruit. Dry summer for harvest.

Terroir: Very stony soils.

Vintage notes: Winter had normal rainfall with a drier spring which led to very concentrated fruit. A short and very hot head wave caused some loses, but still good fruit were harvested.

in the cellar : All grapes were hand harvested in the early cool mornings. Cool fermentation followed by short lees-contact time before bottling.
