in the cellar : Carlo Stefano created his world famous vermouth in 1757. Little did he know that wo centuries later, his vermouth would still be unmatched anywhere in the world. The secret of Cinzano lies in the quality and quantities of the ingredients. Aromatic extracts of a wide variety of herbs, spices, leaves, flowers and barks are added to a blend of carefully selected wines and then left in the cellars to slowly mature.

With a global market of approximately 38 million cases, vermouth represents the largest sector in the aromatic wine as well as the fourth largest liquor category in the world.
