

Dornier Cocoa Hill Rose 2012

A fresh, dry and vibrant Rose made via direct pressing of Merlot providing a wine with an alluring salmon colour and appealing drinkability.

With its vibrant pale pink colour the wine offers an array of flavours ranging from strawberries and cherries to herbaceous and grassy notes. The palate is vivacious yet full and rich with a moderate acidity to provide for an ever pleasing summer wine.

With its alluring colour this wine is a good pair with fresh salmon, cold meats, lobster, salads, lighter pastas and even complements tomato based dishes that one usually struggles to find suitable wine matches for. Also great with sushi.

in the vineyard : The 2012 vintage will be remembered as bringing one of the longest ripening periods recorded at Dornier. The heat spell in January was followed by an unusually cool February. This allowed the fruit to hang on the vines for longer, resulting in smaller, concentrated berries with intense flavours and natural acidity. We were able to pick for phenolic ripeness, without the increase in sugar sometimes experienced towards the end of the season. This resulted in beautifully flavourful fruit and excellent balance in the final product.

in the cellar : This year, due to prevailing weather conditions, it resulted in the Merlot being the far superior variety thereby making the 2012 predominantly Merlot. The grapes were harvested, and after destemming and crushing, spent 14 hours in the press as to extract the desired colour, before a light pressing. The resultant pink juice then fermented for 12 days at 13.5 degrees and spent a further 4 months on full lees to provide fullness and body to the wine.
