in the vineyard : The grapes are from four selected vineyards in the Tulbagh valley.

about the harvest: Harvested during February by both hand and machine at sugars between 24 - 25.5ºB.

in the cellar : Grapes are fermented on the skins in stainless steel tanks. Yeast strains are selected to enhance the natural flavours of the grapes. The wine is pumped over every four hours during alcoholic fermentation. After pressing, the wine went through malolactic fermentation. Special selected French oak staves are used during malolactic fermentation, to give the wine the distinctive chocolate and coffee flavours.
