in the vineyard :

The grapes were sourced from trellised and bush vines from the Paarl, Robertson and Worcester areas. The vines, planted between 1980 and 1995, grow in sandy, decomposed granite and alluvial soils, situated at altitudes of 50m to 100m above sea level. Grafted onto nematode-resistant rootstocks Richter 99 and 101-14, some received supplementary irrigation from a micro-irrigation system while others grow under dryland conditions.

about the harvest: The grapes were harvested by hand at 21° to 22.5° Balling during February.

in the cellar :

The fruit was crushed and gently pressed to extract excellent quality juice. Fermentation took place in stainless steel tanks for two weeks at 15°C.

Cellar master: Andrea Freeborough
