The vines, planted between 1985 and 1995 at altitudes of 50m to 150m above sea level, are grown in a variety of soils and terroirs suiting the cultivars. Grafted onto nematode-resistant rootstocks Richter 99, R110 and 101 - 114, the vines received supplementary irrigation.

about the harvest:

The grapes were harvested by hand and machine at 19° to 22° Balling in January and February.

in the cellar :

The fruit was crushed and allowed four to six hours of skin contact to extract the delicate rose colour and varietal aromas. The juice was fermented in stainless-steel tanks at 15°C.
