in the vineyard : This is a cool area, situated 12-20 km from the sea, with mean February (ripening stage) temperatures of 19-20oC. Soils are predominantly ferruginous (iron rich) gravel on highly weathered, soft Bokkeveld Group shale, situated at 200 - 300 m altitude and surrounded by Table Mountain sandstone mountains at heights of about 500 - 1000m, sheltering the area from the often extremely strong south-easterly winds in summer.

in the cellar : On receipt of the grapes at the cellar, they were immediately crushed and pressed and almost immediately removed from the skins. The juice was settled for 2 days below 10°C. After inoculation of yeast the wine was fermented at 12 - 15°C for approximately two weeks. The fermentation ensured the maximum development of flavours induced by the yeast and the natural fruitiness of the Merlot grape. The wine was left on the lees until bottling to create rounded mouth feel and richness. The wine was polished with a soft filtration and bottled for your pure enjoyment!
