

Tukulu Chenin Blanc 2001

The South African Trophy Wine Show 2002 - Silver

This is a big, full-bodied and mouth-filling wine with a rich, yellow colour and exhibiting ripe melon flavours on the nose and palate with a slight trace of muskiness. Metshane recommends savouring it on its own or with lightly spiced or cream-based dishes.

in the vineyard : The wine was made from bush vines ranging in age from 30 to 50 years and harvested in mid-February with ripe flavours and good fruit acids.

about the harvest: Yielding between 5 and 6 tons per ha, the grapes were hand-harvested at 25 degrees Balling in mid-February.

in the cellar : After overnight settling, the grapes were fermented between 18 and 20°C over two weeks and the wine was filtered just before bottling in August.
