about the harvest: Each grape component was hand harvested at optimal ripeness in 20kg crates.

in the cellar :
Crushing took place early the next morning after chilling the grapes overnight. Juice was drawn off during crushing to maximize elegance. The juice was then settled, racked after two days, and inoculated for fermentation. Fermentation was done at temperatures under 14ºC to preserve delicate aromas. All varietals were fermented separately and only blended post fermentation for maximum complexity.
