Wildeberg Coterie - Cinsault Rosé 2021

This Rosé is a fine, lightly savoury wine with real depth. The older oak wraps this dry, mineral wine in a delicate creamy veil ultimately leaving a bright, structured and fine finish.

The Coterie wines draw upon a convergence of Wildeberg's tiny production pool of identified vineyards.

in the vineyard : A Wildeberg wine begins life when we fall for a specific vineyard. The next step is simply expressing that place. In this case we fell upon a block of organically-farmed, dry-grown bush-vine Cinsault grown on the Agter-Paarl's mineral seams.

about the harvest: The fruit was picked at a ripeness optimal for this rosé's natural acidity, in the cool of dawn and trucked up the road to Wildeberg.

in the cellar : The fruit harvested just made a full single press, which was then gently squeezed to old French oak demi-muids for natural fermentation.
