

Allee Bleue Magnum Cab Franc 2015

A wine like this is alive and every time you taste it you notice something new. The flavours are so well integrated and subtle that they appear seamless. Cedar wood, cassis, fynbos and dried herbs entice your nose and the ripe black current fruit and soft tannin lines the palate.

in the vineyard : To say that the vineyard plays a big role in producing a wine of this stature is an understatement. We've been working with this Cab Franc vineyard in Banghoek since 2009 , planted on the red oakleaf soil and at an elevation of 433 m, the vineyards have been begging to be bottled on its own. When standing in this vineyard, high up in the Banghoek Valley, surrounded by the Stellenbosch mountains and the natural Fynbos, is hard not to then except the challenge.
