Pinotage still forms the Cornerstone of South Africa's wine industry although Chenin blanc is giving it a good run for its money.

in the vineyard : Grapes for this wine are harvested from 54 year old bush vine from the Bottelary property. Low yields increase fruit intensity and depth of flavour. These old vine gems have slower ripening cycles delivering more mature fruit and a distinct chalky finish generated from a mix of granite and red clay.

about the harvest: Grapes are picked between 25 and 26 Balling.

in the cellar : Grapes are crushed and allowed cold maceration for 24 – 48 hours. It is inoculated with French yeast strains and fermented in open concrete tanks with manual punch down of the cap every two hours for another 4-5 days.

The wine is then drained from the skins and further fermentation takes place in stainless steel tanks. After fermentation has completed, it is matured in 100% French oak over a period of 12-14 months.
