The Vineyard Collection Wines are made from specific vineyard blocks, each with its unique character for its cultivar and terroir. The wines are made in an elegant and new world style that makes the perfect accompaniment to any social occasion.

about the harvest: The grapes were hand-harvested in the early morning, in late January at 19° Belling, when it was still cool. The soil is a combination of decomposed granite and Malmesbury shales.

in the cellar : After the grapes were de-stemmed, the whole bunch was pressed with no skin contact and only the best free-run juice was selected. The wine was settled overnight and the clean juice was fermented within stainless steel tanks. The juice was settled for twelve hours, with the clean juice racked to the fermentation tank for the it's alcoholic fermentation. After the fermentation the wine was stored on the lees for six months without any sulphur addition. The wine was stabilized and filtered before the addition of sugar and yeast for the second fermentation. The second alcoholic fermentation was done in the bottle under a crown cap. The wine was aged for at least eighteen months on the lees in the bottle. The wine was disgorged and then corked.
