The tale goes as follows... People believed that the stone age hand axes they found were the result of lightning striking the soil and shaping the rocks. The Dutch called them "Dondersteentjies".

Our Chardonnay is a great expression of Stellenbosch terroir. This fruit-driven wine is an enjoyable balance of vibrant aromas and layers of texture from the extended lees contact. Made to be enjoyed with friends!

about the harvest: The grapes are hand harvested in the morning.

in the cellar : Whole bunches are pressed while the cold juice go to tank to settle. After 24h of settling, the juice is racked to tanks as well as 300L and 500L barrels for fermentation. After fermentation is complete, the barrels are topped and all is wine left on the lees for up to 12 months. The tanks and barrels are racked off the lees just before bottling to make up the final blend.
