in the vineyard : These dryland Chenin Blanc vineyards are planted on Western slopes with deep red, decomposed granite soils facing the cold Atlantic, bringing in cold air from the ocean and helping maintain the vigour and vibrancy of the grapes. The rugged West Coast provides optimal conditions for ripening and creating the perfect environment for a beautiful expression of terroir.

about the harvest: Grapes are harvested during the late evenings and early mornings to retain fruit purity.

in the cellar : The majority of the juice is then fermented in stainless steel tanks for freshness, while the remainder goes into 3rd and 4th fill 300 L French oak barrels for added complexity. The components are aged for 4 months before final blending and bottling to enhance the weight, mouth-feel and palate of the wine.
