in the vineyard : The Grenache and Cinsault vineyards average around 20 years old and are planted close to the bracing, cold Atlantic which brings in the cooling air that, with careful nurture, promote good health in the vineyards. Slower ripening and excellent vineyard conditions create a great balance of concentration and flavour in the grapes, and overall a wonderful and typical expression of West Coast terroir.

about the harvest: Grapes are harvested separately during the early morning hours to retain their purity and freshness in the cellar : Grapes are brought into the cellar for fermentation. Fermentation takes place in open top tanks with gentle pump overs 3 times each day to extract colour, flavour, and supple tannins to create a harmonious wine with a bright character and elegant finesse
