Anthonij Rupert Cape Vintage Reserve 2022

Typical melange of spice, plum compote, fresh ripe cherry and a shy powdery florality on the nose. The entry is rich, sweetly raisined and spicy, with a dry, nuttiness apparent from its time in aged oak barrels. The integration on this fortified wine is beautiful, both the oak and fruit as well as the spirit addition. Nothing dominates, so the individual components harmonise in elegant and subtle fashion. It's both complex and engaging. Texturally, it's as if the wine is wearing a velvety cloak of chocolate-covered raisins. Delicious, comforting, mouth-wateringly tasty and the farewell is suitably dry, spicy and lingering.

in the vineyard : These site-specific vineyards are situated on decomposed granite soils on a northwest-facing slope in the scenic Franschhoek Valley. The unique terroir, combined with the favorable climate, creates optimal growing conditions for our grapes.

in the cellar : The 2022 Cape Vintage Reserve was made from hand-picked Touriga Nacional and Souzão grapes grown on the L'Ormarins estate. After harvesting, the grapes were gently crushed and fermented in stainless steel tanks, which helped preserve their fresh fruit flavors. We then fortified the wine with our estate-distilled spirits made from Ugni Blanc grapes using an alembic still. The wine aged for 22 months in old red wine barrels, allowing it to develop rich flavors and a smooth texture. The result is a full-bodied port-style wine with notes of dark fruit and a hint of spice.
