in the vineyard : This Distell label takes its name from the two great oceans that converge at the Cape, the Indian and the Atlantic. The Cape's Coastal region enjoys a temperate climate, cooled by day-time maritime breezes from both oceans and a drop in night-time temperatures to allow grapes to ripen slowly. In addition, the moderate humidity means vines are far less prone to disease than in areas with higher moisture levels.

To ensure the finest quality, grapes are sourced from vineyards in cool growing areas. The winemaker works very closely with a team of viticulturists and he closely supervises pruning, suckering and canopy management practices for optimal crop yield. During the ripening season the grapes are tasted daily for ripeness and also chemically analysed to ensure they are picked when varietal flavours are most concentrated, tannins are ripe and there is a good balance between fruit and acid.

The grapes were sourced from vineyards in the coastal areas. They were grown in a range of soils from decomposed granite to deep, red.

about the harvest: The grapes were harvested by hand and machine.

in the cellar : Each vineyard block was separately vinified. In each case, the juice was fermented at between 24°C and 26°C. The juice was left on the skins for five days for maximum colour extraction. The skins were then removed, pressed and the pressed juice added back and fermentation was completed. After malolatic fermentation the wine was blended in a ratio of 65% Cabernet Sauvignon to 35% Merlot.
