

Theuniskraal Semillon Chardonnay 2003

Winemaker Andries Jordaan describes this as a medium-bodied wine, which offers aromas of apple with subtle undertones of citrus, followed through on the palate by a complexity of fruit flavours with a long lingering after taste.

The wine is ideally suited to fish, poultry and pasta dishes.

in the vineyard : The semillon grapes, which dominate the blend, were grown in south-facing, trellised and irrigated vineyards at an altitude of 240m above sea level. All the vines were planted in 1988, cultivated in loamy clay soils, which keep roots cooled in the summer months and preserve the varietal flavours.

The south-facing chardonnay vineyards, are also planted at an altitude of 240m above sea level, in stony, loamy soils as well as deeper loamy soils. The trellised vines, established in 1991, receive supplementary, drip irrigation.

about the harvest: Both the semillon and chardonnay were hand-harvested mostly from pre-dawn to early morning. The semillon was picked in late February at 22,5Â° Balling, while the chardonnay was picked at 24Â° Balling in early and mid-February.

in the cellar : Both varietals were individually vinified receiving skin contact for three hours. After cold fermentation between 13Â° and 15Â°C for 14 to 21 days, none of the wines received oak and remained in stainless steel tanks until blending.

Semillon comprises 56% of the blend and the chardonnay 44%.
