

Flamingo Bay Lagoon Rosé 2004

An aromatic, dry rose with an explosion of red berry fruit and boiled sweets on the nose. A refreshing palate ideally suited for brunch with a smoked salmon salad or watching the sun set over a calm sea in summer.

Sitting in a region blessed by superlative vineyards, exquisite Flamingo's and rare orchids, Darling Cellars is located close to the hamlet of Darling on the cool West Coast of South Africa. As a private company and with nearly 1.700ha under vine, winemaker Abe Beukes is now producing wines rivaling the best in the Cape. Flamingo's are a familiar sight in winter on the West Coast of South Africa, before migrating to the tranquil Etosha Pan in Namibia. Our Flamingo Bay range of wines echo the elegance of a wondrous bird in a style which is clean, fresh, fruity and vibrant.

about the harvest: Crush and destalk, racked from the skins before fermentation, 14 days fermentation at 14Â°C.

in the cellar : Maturing in Stainless Steel tanks.
